Extraordinary

- Extraordinary...there's no other way to describe Tom Baldwin, one of the most successful and influential traders in the history of the bond market with over a billion dollars in daily volume.
- Tom's ability to single-handedly move the market has earned him the title of "The Bond King", and he is now willing to share that knowledge with you.
- Tom Baldwin is now managing money – offering an opportunity to share both the past – a track record of spectacular success and profitability, and the future – a continuing commitment to the art and science of bond trading.
- Argo Wealth offers a variety of investment choices in addition to Tom's program. One of them may be a perfect fit for your needs and goals.

Tom arrived at the Chicago Board of Trade with a personal stake of $25,000 and a unique skill set. Before long, he became the standard by which bond traders are measured – someone with the insight and acumen to recognize and act on upside opportunities...someone with the experience and foresight to minimize, offset, and neutralize risk. The result? A near-legendary reputation as a trader who can single-handedly move the market.

Argo teamed up with Tom Baldwin for the same reasons an individual investor should consider it: he is simply the absolute best at what he does. Does this mean that placing your trust in him will guarantee profit and an enviable return? Of course not; as with any investment opportunity, you'll need to carefully evaluate the risks and rewards...consider the potential downside along with the chance of success...and assess how the program's goals and direction mesh with your investment needs.

Recent events have again illuminated and reinforced our belief that diversification is an absolute must for any investment portfolio. Our continuing focus at Argo Wealth Management, Inc. is to locate, analyze, and investigate alternative investments to help our clients make the choices best suited to their financial goals.

We'd like to talk it over with you. After due diligence and a careful appraisal of the risks and rewards, you will have the two most powerful and useful tools any investor can rely on – knowledge, and a skilled and trusted partner.
